Manufacturing with a smile

Ever since Mimatsu Foods was founded in 1970, our motto has been “running on inspiration,” and our goal making foods that satisfy customers. To that end, we have done our utmost to insist on quality and delicious taste. What keeps us going? The smiling faces of both our customers and employees. We believe that the only place to develop and produce authentic foods is in a workplace where everyone cooperates, shares goals, and has fulfilling jobs. In short, our greatest desire is for the happiness of everyone connected to Mimatsu Foods.

Delicious Mimatsu foods for each and every customer

Here at Mimatsu we have learned from long years of developing and manufacturing new products. We produce private-label brands, conduct mail-order sales, and participate in a wide range of other fields as ways to build consumer trust. In this era of diversified needs, the focus is on small lot production of a large number of products. To achieve this, we aim for what we refer to as “efficiency that maintains good taste.” Some of what we do must necessarily be done by hand, such as formulating recipes, while other tasks can safely be left to automation, for example packing and shipping. In either case, the processes must be polished, and the system we have established to accomplish them ensures a stable supply of a large variety of products. Mimatsu Foods will continue to make the products our customers know and love, adding improvements as we go. At the same time, we keep a close eye on consumer preferences, developing brand-new products to make sure we meet the needs of each and every customer we serve.

The taste customers demand, but even better

Mimatsu Foods specializes in Chinese foods of the highest quality. We pride ourselves in the development capacity behind our core businesses of production for private labels and homemade dim sum for our subsidiary Hoshoku, Inc.—all delicious, high-quality foods delivered to consumers throughout Japan.

Mimatsu's greatest strength is our diversified small-lot production, possible through the development techniques nurtured throughout the history of the company. Our products satisfy customers because we have 1000 different unique recipes to work with when assessing customer requests. In addition, all of our products are made with ingredients carefully selected domestically and overseas.

Diversified small-lot production to meet every need

Mimatsu Foods has produced several thousand different products in its history. Small-lot production begins with orders for as little as 10,000 units.

Coming up with the ideal taste 1000 Mimatsu recipes to choose from

Through the years, Mimatsu has developed over 1,000 unique recipes. This know-how and experience is put to use as we strive to get exactly the taste our customers demand.

Choosing ingredients from around the world

Mimatsu never stops trying to make our food taste even better. Our search for the best ingredients takes us throughout our own country and around the world.

Development

Joining forces for product development

To achieve the ideal results in creating new products, we at Mimatsu rely on our wealth of development experience, as well as flexibility and a speedy response. Our development and production divisions work together to make sure the end product is precisely what the customer ordered.

Production

A production system for better quality and efficiency

Mimatsu's unrivaled diversified small-lot production is supported by a resourceful production line that alters and rearranges facilities as needed. In addition, we constantly strive to improve efficiency. Building on improvements is how we achieve customer satisfaction.

Quality Control

A division devoted to product control

Mimatsu has a quality control office run directly by the company president, ensuring thorough, impartial quality control is in place at all times. Mimatsu Foods is certified by the Japan Frozen Food Association as a part of the Frozen Foods Recognition System.

Hygiene

Third-party participation in hygiene control

In addition to regular cleaning of production facilities and waste-water disposal according to environmental standards, Mimatsu also brings in outside companies to clean and monitor hygiene compliance as a way to maintain a multifaceted view of food safety, and we are constantly aiming for better quality control. We have consistently received Gunma Foods Hygiene Certification, a system based on HACCP.

The Best Ingredients in Every Product

Compromise has no place in achieving taste and quality our customers can count on. Mimatsu gets its ingredients only from contracted farmers and regular suppliers. And these are not limited to Japan. To mention a few, Mimatsu gets wheat from North America and wild shrimp from Vietnam. In Japan, we contract with farmers to get a stable supply of fresh produce, and we travel the world looking for the best ingredients of all kinds. Using our global network of suppliers, we guarantee customers the ingredients best suited to the products they commission.

A word from our buyer

Atsushi Furusawa,
Chief of Development Division

Working with farmers to grow cabbage

When it comes to gyoza and many of our other products, cabbage is the most important ingredient, one for which Gunma Prefecture is renowned. Mimatsu contracts to buy the crops of more than 30 of the most reliable growers in Gunma to make sure we have fresh cabbage arriving daily. Our buyer participates in planting meetings with growers and nurseries, leaving nothing to chance when it comes to quality.

To make sure orders go into production as quickly and smoothly as possible, Mimatsu buyer and supply functions are part of the development division. We've found it makes good sense for staff who develop new products to procure ingredients themselves to meet diverse needs in a flexible and timely fashion.
